

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates, in general, to methods of treating disorders of the eye, and, in 5 particular, to methods of preventing or treating elevated eye pressure and glaucoma. The invention further relates to compounds and compositions suitable for use in such methods.